ADVICE TO CHILDREN

Sent out by Peninsular Railway Company

1. Never try to get on or off a car unless it is standing still.

2. When you get off a car, look out for autos and wagons that may be passing. They, like the car, will hurt you if you get in their way.

3. Never cross a street without making sure that you will not get in the way of a car. Look out for autos and horses, too.

4. Do not play on the street. If you have not a yard at home, find some open lot for your games. No street is safe to play in. It is not only the cars that make a street unsafe, but on any street, even the very quiet ones, you might be struck by an auto or a horse if you were not watching for them. When you are playing there is so much fun in your game that you forget about cars and autos, and may easily be run over.

Never play on the street.

5. If you ride a wheel, don't ride on or between the car tracks if you can help it. Never catch hold of a car and ride beside it.

Take this letter home and read it to your parents. You might ask them, first, if they think a car is like a large dog. They will laugh at you, perhaps, but then read them this letter, and see what they think about it.

We have written this letter to you because we want you to help us save people from being hurt. Will you be careful yourself? And will you ask others to be careful? We hope you will, and we thank you for helping us.

Yours very truly,

PENINSULAR RAILWAY COMPANY.

A Bigger and Better Library for Campbell

Miss Harriet Eddy, a representative of the State Library at Sacramento, addressed the Country Woman's Club at their regular meeting Monday afternoon, in the interest of the County Free Library—a plan whereby small libraries may be provided, or if already begun, as in the case of Campbell, may be augmented and helped, by the State Library, working in conjunction with the Supervisors of any County.

The law providing for a County Library, as explained by Miss Eddy, is an enabling act, making it possible for any Board of Supervisors to establish a County Free Library, on their own initiative.

A County Free Library is a library for all the people in a county, supported by the County, with headquarters at the county seat; but instead of going to this headquarters for books, the people are reached by the books being sent out in small collections to branch headquarters in the small centers or towns, these collections being called in and replaced by others when the community no longer uses them. In addition, if a book is required which is not in the local collection it is sent, on application, from the County Library, or if not found there, is sent from the State Library, all shipments being free to the borrower. In this way, all the riches of the State Library may be enjoyed by the smallest community.

Already sixteen counties of California are carrying on Free Library work, and others are preparing to do so. The expense of establishing such a library is small, as the State Library is depended on for books that are rare, books that are only occasionally used, as well as collections of books for study of special subjects, and books too expensive to justify their purchase by any but a large library.

Miss Eddy's talk was much appreciated by the ladies present, and many questions were asked, as the work for the Campbell Free Library and Reading-room is a fundamental part of the work of the Country Woman's Club. At the close of the Club endorsed the plan of a County Library, and gave Miss Eddy a vote of thanks for her talk.

BOARDS OF INQUIRY

Boards of Inquiry will hereafter be convened to ascertain the cause and fix the responsibility, where such immediate cause is not clearly manifest, for all accidents on the Southern Pacific, according to information made public in the general offices of the Southern Pacific here today. Full publicity as to the findings of such inquiry boards will also be given.

This is a new move on the part of the Southern Pacific and is in line with its policy of full publicity for accidents adopted several years ago. Following an accident that is not of minor consequence the ranking official on the division on which the accident occurs, shall convene the board, which board shall comprise two disinterested persons not connected with the railroad, and the division officers representing the operating, mechanical and engineering departments. The board must visit the scene of the accident and must take the testimony of employees and eye-witnesses, persisting in the investigation until the causes are determined. Should a division board of inquiry fail to reach a conclusion a second board comprising higher officials shall be convened and if the findings of the second board be not conclusive the general manager will convene a third board.

The instructions to officers who shall convene inquiry boards state specifically that the responsibility must be fixed regardless of individuals or interests affected. The findings must be turned over to the general manager and from the latter's office to the press. Prominent business men from the neighborhood in which an accident may occur usually sit as members of such boards and of several inquiries already held the findings of these boards have all been unanimous.

CALLS LIFE A FAILURE

ONE MAN THAT EVIDENTLY CHERISHES NO ILLUSIONS.

Possibly the World's Verdict Would Be the Same as His Own, but
Many There Be Who Envy
Him His Record.

The following "human document" is placed at our disposal for what it may be worth, declares the Chicago Record-Herald. We shall make no attempt to pass judgment upon it, preferring to let our readers do that for themselves.

"I am probably a failure. Do not hastily conclude that I need food or clothes or that I may become a future ward of charity. I have a little home which has been paid for out of my earnings. I have three children whom I have managed to send through college, and I have been able to save enough money to provide such things as I shall need after my earning power is gone. But I am probably a failure.

"Let it be understood that I have never willingly or knowingly wronged any one; that I have been a law-abiding citizen; that I have kept myself free from debasing habits; that I have always endeavored to vote for the good of my country, of my state, and of my city, rather than for the benefit of any man or party, and that I have tried to keep my heart as clean as if it, like my face, were visible to the world.

"I have no quarrel with people who do not believe as I believe. I acknowledge that there may be things which I do not understand, that a thing is not necessarily wrong because I think it wrong, and that a thing is not made right merely because I suppose it to be right. It is probable, however, that the people who fix our standards of success, the people who are leaders in society, the people in authority, would, if my case were brought to their notice, consider me a failure. I have not accumulated a fortune. I have not caused my name to become familiar to the public. Few people consider my favor worth courting. If I coin an epigram it is unnoticed, owing to my obscurity, and I have never been a guest of honor.

"I believe I am qualified to fill any high position except that of champion heavyweight pugilist, but I have never been called upon to accept executive responsibilities. I have in an obscure, subordinate position done my work skillfully and conscientiously, and I have been permitted to remain in it undisturbed.

"I have not the slightest doubt that if because of some upheaval of nature or through some other extraordinary agency I had been hurled out of my little, unimportant corner into some high place, I should have been able to prove my fitness as an administrative genius, a master of strategy or a transcendent organizer. But no upheaval has occurred; I have waited patiently for the reward which we are assured must come to him who does well that which he has to do, and I begin to see my superiors cast furtive glances at me and shake their heads, and in fancy I hear them say:

"Poor old chap! He is a faithful, conscientious soul, but he has no talent, and in a little while he will have outlived his usefulness."

"So I must write myself down a failure. If I did not do so the world would do so for me. I have not been tried and found wanting. If that had happened I should have no reason to complain because the world has decided that I am unworthy. I have not been tried at all, yet judgment has been passed upon me. That is my grievance."

Dumas and His Dogs.

Fondness for dogs has been a marked characteristic of many famous men. Of the great romancer Dumas it is told that he once had a dog as hospitable as was his master, and that the dog once invited 12 other dogs to Monte Cristo, Dumas' palace, named after his famous novel, Dumas' factotum-in-chief wanted to drive off the whole pack.

"Michel," said the great romancer, "I have a social position to fill. It entails a fixed amount of trouble and expense. You say I have 13 dogs, and that they are eating me out of house and home. Thirteen! That is an unlucky number."

"Monsieur, if you will permit me, there is nothing left for me to do. I must chase them all away," said the servant.

"Never, Michel, never," replied the great writer. "Go at once and find me a fourteenth dog."

The Drawback.

An Italian has invented an airship which opens and shuts like an umbrella. The only drawback we see to this design is that some absent-minded person may borrow it and forget to return it.—Puck.

Wise Pig.

A farmer of Delaware has a pig that ought to be in a circus. To obtain apples the pig, starting some distance from a tree, runs, jumps into the air, and, catching a limb in its mouth, hangs on and shakes down the fruit.

HELPS IN EMERGENCY

PANTRY SHELF OF GREAT VALUE TO HOUSEWIFE.

Should Hold Supply of Canned Goods
From Which to Form a "Pickup"
Meal When Situation Demands
Immediate Action.

Every housekeeper has or should have an emergency shelf where she may keep on hand a small supply of canned goods which can be brought out and used as needed.

Canned salmon is almost sure to have a place on this shelf and the following recipes may offer variety for one who finds it necessary to serve this fish frequently.

Salmon Pudding.—One can salmon; 2 eggs; 1 tablespoon milk or water; 1 teaspoon salt; 1½ tablespoons butter; 2 tablespoons flour; 1 cup milk, ¼ tablespoon salt.

Drain the salmon and remove skin and bones. Beat eggs until light, then mix with salmon, milk and salt.

Put in a buttered dish, set in a pan of water and bake in a moderate oven 20 to 25 minutes.

Turn out on a hot platter and pour around it the white sauce which is made by melting the butter and mixing with it the flour and salt, then adding the milk gradually and cooking until it thickens.

Scalloped Salmon.—One can salmon; 1 cup bread crumbs; 1 cup white sauce; 1 teaspoon salt, 1 lemon.

Drain the salmon and remove skin and bones. Mix salmon, bread crumbs, white sauce and salt, and put in a buttered dish. Bake 15 to 20 minutes. When done, garnish with half slices of lemon.—Charlotte E. Carpenter, Colorado Agricultural College.

SOAP AND WATER FOR CARPET

Treatment That Will Serve to Give the Floor Covering a New Lease of Life.

To wash the carpet thoroughly you will require a bucket of warm water, a cake of carpet soap, a piece of house-flannel, and, if you are going to tackle a fair-sized piece of carpet at once, a supply of dry cloths.

Do not begin near the door, as you may require to leave the room for fresh water, and it is unwise to walk on the carpet when damp. Make up your mind to do without the room till all is dry. Start washing as far from the door as possible, and work towards it. The flannel is wetted, and a portion of the carpet well rubbed. It must not be overdone, only wetted sufficiently to secure a good lather by rubbing the carpet soap ball well in. Then with the clean, wet flannel remove the soap. Well rinse the flannel afterwards, so that it is quite soapless when you begin again, later on another fresh piece.

No soap must be left in the carpet when the final rubbing commences. Take a dry towel, and rub to your best. Though you cannot get rid of all dampness, you can almost dry the patch with friction, and this brings up the nap beautifully, also the colors.

Chocolate Nougat.

Take four ounces of blanched almonds, six ounces of icing sugar, the whites of two eggs; two ounces of grated chocolate; a few drops of vanilla essence, and some almond oil.

Put the sugar, chocolate and whites of eggs into a lined saucepan, and whisk them together until very stiff. Cut each of the almonds into three pieces; warm them slightly in the oven, and stir them into the saucepan with the other ingredients. Add vanilla essence, let all get thoroughly hot, when turn into a tin which has been greased with almond oil. Smooth over with a knife dipped in hot water, and when nearly set, cut in squares and pile in fancy dishes.

Mock Venison.

Leg of lamb, 4 pounds, 1 pint of currant or grape juice, ¼ bay leaf, 2 cloves, 1 teaspoon of salt, ¼ teaspoon of pepper, ¼ teaspoon of curry powder, 2 cups of bread crumbs. Melted currant or grape jelly can be used. Remove bones from meat. Cook roast in hot fruit juice for two minutes in a covered kettle. Add salt, pepper and curry powder to the bread crumbs, moisten with hot fruit juice and fill cavity in the roast. Place roast in pan, add bay leaf and cloves and pour fruit juice into pan. Baste frequently and cook one hour and 20 minutes.

Small Angel Cake.

Whites four eggs, half level teaspoon cream tartar, half cup granulated sugar, half cup flour, one-quarter teaspoon salt, half teaspoon almond extract.

Put the cream tartar in the whites of the eggs and beat to a stiff froth, then beat in the sugar. Sift the salt with the flour and stir lightly into the other mixture. Add the flavoring and put into a small ungreased angel cake tin. Sprinkle the top with sugar. Bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven.

Beefsteak and Spaghetti.

Slice two onions and two green mango peppers and fry in two tablespoons of butter; add one pound of round steak, cut fine, and cook until slightly brown, then add small can tomatoes; salt to taste and add as much paprika as you like. Let this simmer about one hour. Use as sauce well cooked spaghetti or macaroni. Grated cheese may be sprinkled over this.

Tailored Hats That Are to Be Worn by the Summer Girl

JUST to look at the new shapes in tailored hats transports one to mid-summer, to visions of beaches and mountains, to vacation time and outings. The shape is the thing in these hats, with trimming of the simplest character. Shapes have been carefully considered and are so well balanced and beautiful that trimmings are mere accessories used to accentuate its lines, to repeat or reflect its expression or to accentuate its peculiarities.

These hats must be properly poised on the head and the trimming placed to suit the face of the wearer. But it must serve a purpose on the hat and not interfere with its hues or contradict them.

Two models in white and black are shown here trimmed with white wings and ribbon. The large round shape is faced with black velvet. The black milans and hems trimmed with white are very chic.

Colored hats of braid, with rolling brim made on wire frames and trimmed with changeable taffeta, are used for darker hats. Immense bows of ribbon, with standing loops, form the trims. Bordered and fancy ribbons are used for these big ribbon decorations and loops are wired to keep them in the upstanding positions.

Although but one trimming material is used, or at most two, on this class of millinery—ample quantities are necessary of this single material. Bows are very large, sweeping like wings, from the body of the hat. But some small fancy feather ornaments are effectively used on small shapes. They are vivid in coloring as a rule, with cerise and primrose the favorites and the strongest of bright greens next. It is already settled that black and white will have a great vogue in the coming mid-summer.

REVIVAL OF COIFFURE STYLE

Eighteenth Century Idea in Hair
Dressing Likely to Be Established Again.

The sketch shows an effective revival of the 18th century style of hair dressing. In this case the hair is arranged low on the forehead and is held in place by a band of silver ribbon. At the back it is arranged in loose curls and coils and one careless curl is permitted to fall over the shoulders.

The latter head-dress would look exceedingly well if accompanied by a picturesque dress of flowered taffetas.

pale mauve flowers on a silver gray ground, for example. The dress ought to have flat panniers at the sides and a large fichu of dainty muslin and lace over the shoulders. The short sleeves should also be finished off with lace and muslin frills.

Notions.

Smart little tailored costumes in snowy white whipcords, beautifully braided, or white serges, also braided, are ready for the southern season.

Separate blouses of navy blue crepe de chine are relieved by revers and collars of white satin.

Taffeta will be much used in fashioning the dresses and suits for spring wear.

The importance of brocaded velvet in the realm of evening wraps is undenied.

Shoes are becoming a little more ornamental in their effect.

PARIS TAKES UP NEW COLORS

Jade and Malachite Green Are the Latest to Find Favor in the Gay
French Capital.

While Paris has almost exhausted its favoritism for red, which has been going on since last summer, it has just begun its enthusiasm for jade and malachite green.

Both of these are lovely, bold tones that need veiling on a number of women, or otherwise they would be washed out.

When they are used without veiling the upper part of the bodice is made of tulle in white or flesh pink, to take the shade of the green from the face; and when a woman cannot wear the unrelieved tone it is veiled with a dark shade of green tulle instead of black tulle.

On these gowns there is an opportunity to use many jade and malachite stones as trimming and as ornaments.

Rajah Ring.

Durban interest has crept into the jeweler's realm, and hence the very latest things in this line are the Indian armlets (to be worn on the bare arm or over the sleeve) and the rajah ring. The latter is a facsimile of the ring worn on the little toe of the dancing girls of India. It reaches below the joint of the finger and rests on the back of the hand. In trying it on most women place it upside down. It makes a striking unique dinner ring.

Nearly all the armlets are coiled serpent designs, for the serpent is a lucky emblem in India.

Derby of Straw.

Taffeta and hemp are being used to make some of the smartest of stiff hats. Panama hats are also being shown, these being very large and trimmed with wings as a rule.

But one of the most popular shapes seems to be the derby, made on much the same lines of the derby of the winter. This is rather severe, but is becoming to the young woman, and it cannot be denied that when it is becoming it is very, very smart in appearance.

Use Tweezers.

When pulling threads from hem stitching or when working towels with cross-stitch embroidery, use a pair of tweezers.

The fingers will be saved in this manner.

All who have suffered from sore fingers due to pulling threads will realize the value of this suggestion.

Tweezers are excellent for pulling bastings. Try them and you will always have a pair handy.

TOP-WORKING OF OLD FRUIT
TREES IS CONSIDERED BEST

Method Gives Very Desirable Crops and Brings Quicker
Returns Than by Replanting of Young Trees—
Practice of Grafting Is Not Mysterious
Art—Few Important Points.

(By PROF. O. B. WHITE, Colorado.)

It has been proven by long experience that if properly done, the grafting over of old trees by top-working brings quicker returns than the replanting of young trees. In fact, it is not uncommon to see a fairly good crop on the three-year-old top of a top-worked tree.

Top working, as a means of establishing a weak-growing variety on a bark separates from the wood simplifies the work of inserting the bud, but as the growth is more active the tissues of the bud and the stock are more likely to unite.

It does not pay to graft trees which show poor growth, and it seldom pays to top-work any crab. It is also questionable as to whether it pays to top-work stone-fruit trees. While good tops may be grown on either peach, apricot or almond, it is doubtful whether these crops will bear much quicker returns than young trees set in the place of the old ones.

There are various methods of graftage, the most common in the west being cleft and kerf grafting. These operations are simple and are known to most orchardists.

In cleft grafting, the limb is sawed off squarely, the stub split down about two inches with the grafting chisel, and the clefts wedged open with the scion inserted as a wedge.

The first bud should be left a little below the top of the wedge, cutting the edge of the wedge opposite the bud a little thinner than the other. The scion is then driven firmly into place with the lower bud to the outside, and a little below the top of the cleft.

It is important that the inner bark on the outer edge of the wedge should be brought in contact with the inner bark on the stub. It is between these parts that the union takes place.

Kerf grafting is almost the same as cleft grafting, only the stub is prepared by saw cuts instead of splitting. These are made on opposite sides of the stub and trimmed to thin V-shaped grooves with a saddler's knife, the scion is then trimmed to fit, driven firmly into place and waxed as in cleft grafting.

It is not good practice to remove the whole top of the tree the first year and graft all the stubs. Often this proves too much for the tree and it falls even after the grafts have made a good start. They may linger two or three years and then die.

A better plan is to cut away only enough limbs to set scion for a good stronger root system than its own, is coming into high favor.

The practice of grafting is not a mysterious art, as many suppose, but is so simple that any careful orchardist can and should do it himself. All common fruit trees can easily be budded or grafted.

The apple and pear may be inter-grafted upon each other, and this is true of the peach, plum, apricot and almond. However, such wholesale mixing is not good practice, and the pear and apple never take a good union.

Peach grafts start vigorously upon apricots, and plums upon the peach trees.

Growth in diameter of the tree only takes place in a very small region between the bark and the sap-wood. This part of the stem is called the cambium, and in this thin layer of tissue the cells are still active while the activity of each succeeding layer on each side grows less and less.

The important point in grafting is to see that the cambium layers of the stock and the scion are matched at some point. When the growth is active we say the bark "peels." Budding is done during this period, not only because the ease with which the top, generally about half of the tree. Working of more stubs results in too dense a top, or necessitates their removal later.

The remaining limbs may be shortened, but some foliage is needed to protect the stubs and trunk from sunscald, as well as to supply nourishment.

KEEPING LITTLE
CHICKS HEALTHY

Mixture of Lard and Coal Oil Applied to Head of Youngsters
Will Be Found
Excellent.

(By HELEN JACKSON.)

I want to tell how I got rid of the white diarrhoea in chicks. When they are old enough to take off the nests, say about 20 hours after they are hatched, take lard and coal oil in equal quantities, mix thoroughly and rub one drop on top of the head and on the vent.

Put them in a box and give them some sand and a little ground oats and no other feed until they are one week old. The second week they may show signs of the white diarrhoea, but repeat the treatment described.

I raised 300 chicks last year and never lost one with the white diarrhoea. This is the way I always treat my chicks.

Do not give the chicks any more feed than they will eat up clean every time. I always feed German millet to the chicks when I can get it as I think it better than chick feed.

When the chicks are first taken off the nests I feed them about every two hours—just a little mother's oats. For the first week you can give the mother hen some corn or oats but always have some sand in the box so the chicks can get it.

Never let the chicks get wet or chilled as that stunts them.

FARM ANIMALS
CRAVE FOR SALT

If Placed Within Easy Reach
They Will Consume Just What They Need
and No More.

All farm animals have an instinctive craving for salt. But if it is so placed as to be always within their reach, they will consume just as much as they need, and no more. It is only when it has been kept from them for a long period that there is danger of their eating too much. It is therefore an excellent practice to keep it in a box or boxes where they can have access to it whenever they desire. When they are salted, as is the practice with many farmers, only once a week, while some may get enough, others may suffer from a deficient supply. Salt promotes an active circulation of the blood, which never becomes thick and sluggish so long as the supply is plentiful; it assists digestion, and is often a preventive of disease. It is so cheap that no stock-raiser can really afford to deny to his animals all they want of it.

Value of Stover.

When it is known that three tons of corn stover is practically equal to one ton of mixed clover and timothy hay, any farmer can easily figure out whether it will pay him to save his clover or not.

Coarse Feed for Colts.

Stuffing the colt with hay or straw, or any very coarse feed, will spoil its looks. Keep this ration down by the use of some grains and less coarse feed.

At one of Empress Catherine's private parties, when she was as usual walking about from card table to card table looking at the players, she suddenly rang the bell for her page, but he did not come; she looked agitated and impatient, and rang again, but still no page appeared. At length she left the room, and did not again return; and all the players wondered what the fate of the poor page might be. Shortly after, however, someone, having occasion to go into the antechamber of the pages, found a party of them at cards, and the empress seated at the table playing with them.

She had found that the page she rang for was so interested in the game, that he could not leave it to attend to her summons; so she had quietly taken his hand for him, to play it out, while he went on the errand.

Unwelcome Caller

Two cows were being driven along Causewayend, Aberdeen, Scotland, one recent forenoon, when they ran into a house on Charles street. Before the animals could be ejected, they smashed a quantity of furniture, and one of them put a foot through the floor. The mistress of the house, who was in at the time, suffered a severe shock from the unexpected intrusion on the domestic circle.

Baby's Lips Not to Be Kissed

A baby's hand may be kissed, but not a baby's lips. Kisses often convey contagion, especially in the season when colds are prevalent. A cold in the head is a disagreeable malady, and may be the precursor of a cold elsewhere. The person who has it should keep it, and so far as may be possible, establish a strict quarantine lest the cold be given to a friend. Love should be at pains not to spread contagion by a kiss.—Christian Herald.

Wax Removed

If candlesticks or the patent holders are unsightly because of wax spots, put them in the oven on a folded newspaper; the heat will melt the wax and most of it will be absorbed by the paper. Wipe them vigorously with a soft cloth or tissue paper as soon as they come from the oven. This treatment removes every vestige of wax.—Exchange.

The House Fly

The open season of the house fly is here once more, and it behooves us to resume early and with renewed energy the campaign against this dangerous insect begun last year. Cleanliness is the most effective weapon in the war upon this carrier of disease, cleanliness in the home and the stable, in streets and alleys, above all in places where foodstuffs are prepared for the market or placed on sale. Bakeshops, meatshops and the kitchens of restaurants should be the concern of every citizen, not of the board of health alone. Fly hunting is repulsive; prevention in the proper places, ruthlessly enforced when necessary, will ultimately do away with its necessity. No doubt the various public and voluntary bodies that last year undertook, directed and encouraged the war upon this disseminator of typhoid fever will take the field this season in ample time. The warnings issued by them early in 1911 and the methods suggested met with a gratifying prompt reply. The whole country was made fully aware of the danger that lurks in the sticky feet of these scavengers. A word in time should suffice for the season that is before us.

Tax on Bachelors in Hungary

A curious tax was recently introduced in Nagygyer Rata, Hungary, to be levied on bachelors over 24. The amount varies between 40 cents and $20, according to the pecuniary circumstances of each unmarried man. The proceeds are to be entirely devoted to the founding and maintenance of an asylum for poor homeless children.

SOME DOLLS MADE OF FRUIT

Round, Well-Formed Apple is Needed For the Body, With Arms, Legs and Neck of Toothpick.

A round, well-formed apple is needed for the first doll. The arms and legs are made of four wooden toothpicks, stuck in the apple at the proper angle. For the feet, use raisins; and for the hands, blanched almonds with fingers cut in them. The neck is formed of another toothpick, and a walnut or a filbert forms the head. If a walnut is used, shave the roughness of the nut on one side to form the face, carving the nose and other features and leaving them in relief. Two black currants make good eyes and a piece of beet or cherry makes a good mouth. A burnt match is needed to give the face its expression. You will find the doll very funny, and quite capable of being dressed in many styles in a paper napkin. If long hair is desired, corn silk may be used.

An orange man is made of two oranges, one large and one small. The eyes, nose and mouth are curved in the smaller orange; and ears are made by turning out a wee bit of the peel. Then divide the large orange in halves, following the line of the sections. One half, with all the pulp removed, will make a hat, the edges of which may be turned up. The other half orange is laid on its flat side to form the base or body. The small orange is placed on top of this, a scrap of skin having been removed from both surfaces to make a flat surface on which to rest the head. Two wooden toothpicks or a sharp little stick are thrust through to hold the two together. If a paper napkin is used for a skirt, it will make a "lady doll." A strip of the white orange peel from inside the hat will make trimmings or a necktie. A raisin man is made by stringing fat raisins on wire hairpins, using large raisins for the body and smaller ones for the legs and arms.

MAGIC LADDER GAME AMUSES

Standing in a ring the children begin counting as follows:

The leader says, "One I see;" and so on in turn until the number seven is reached. The seventh player, instead of pronouncing the magic number by saying "Seven I see," says, "I go up one round," and starts to run around the circle on the "Eight." The next player continues, "Eight I see;" the next, "Nine I see," and so on till the next multiple of seven. The first runner tries to get around to his place before "fourteen" is reached. If not successful, the runner is out of the counting part of the game, and though remaining in the circle must turn and stand facing outward.

When "fourteen" is reached, this being twice seven, the player, instead of saying "Fourteen I see," says, "I go up two rounds," and starts to run around the circle before "twenty-one" is reached, which is the signal for "going up three rounds."

Each player having a multiple of seven speaks accordingly and runs once around the circle; but those who should be runners sometimes fall quickly to recognize the fact, in which case they must turn around and forfeit their count for the rest of the game. The game goes on until one—the winner—is left facing in toward the center.

Heaven Lost Its Charm

"Mamma," the Chicago Post quotes the five-year-old, sitting in his bath as saying, "we have to die."

"Yes," assented the mother, rubbing him cheerfully.

"I have to die, and you have to die."

"Oh, yes; some time."

"Then we have to go to heaven. Will they live in different houses, or all together in one family?"

"Perhaps all in one family," suggested the mother, carelessly.

"Then I don't want to go to heaven. There wouldn't be anybody to visit."

LIVED MUCH AS AT PRESENT

Excavations at Pompeii Reveal Little Difference Between Their Life and Ours.

Some eighteen centuries ago life suddenly ceased in the streets of Pompeii. Many of the inhabitants escaped from the showers of ashes and stones which Vesuvius dropped upon the doomed city, but they left behind them hundreds of things which illustrate the familiar saying, "There is nothing new under the sun."

Those old Pompeians were very modern. They had folding doors and hotwater urns; they put gratings in their windows and made rookeries in their gardens.

Their children had toys like ours—bears, lions, pigs, cats, dogs, made of clay, and sometimes serving as pitchers, also. People wrote on walls and cut their names on seats, just as we do now. They kept birds in cages.

They gave tokens at the doors of their places of entertainment—the people of the gallery had pigeons made of a sort of terra-cotta.

They put lamps inside the hollow eyes of the masks that adorned their fountains. They even made grotesques of shells—vulgarity itself is ancient.

They ate sausages and hung up strings of onions. They had stands for public vehicles, and the schoolmaster used a birch on the dunce. They put stepping stones across the roads, that the dainty young patrician gentleman and the pursy old senators might not soil their gilded sandals.

It was never cold enough for their pipes to burst, but they turned their water on and off with taps, and their cook shops had marble counters.

They clapped their offenders into the stocks; two gladiators were there for eighteen hundred years.

When their crockery broke they riveted it. At Herculaneum there is a huge wine jar half buried in the earth. It had been badly broken, but it was so neatly mended, with its many rivets, that it no doubt held wine as well as ever. Those rivets have lasted more than 1,800 years. What would the housewife have said if some one had told her that her cracked pot would outlast the Roman empire?—Harper's Weekly.

No Longer Weapon of War

The bow exists today as a peaceful implement of sport to propel beautifully finished arrows into a straw target, 60 or more yards away. A healthful, outdoor sport is archery, a training for the eye and invigorating to the body. Ladies and gentlemen now engage in the peaceful sport and little thing of the day when the twang of the bow string was only too intimately connected and associated with the tomahawk and scalping knife.

Best Kind

About the Dog

The love of man for the dog is only second to his love for humanity. He who is brother to his fellowman, in whose heart swells the inspiration of human love, can never close his heart to the mute appeal of the dearest of the dumb animals. Our society, as it grows finer and more sane, does not love the dog less, though part of it loves him, often, less wisely. The fadism which fawns on the dog, and causes him to displace affections which have a higher place, has no consideration here. It is the honest, sincere, appropriate relation between the human and the canine, that affection brought down to us from a cruder age, when the dog was really a guide and guardian, as he is now, when occasion arises, which deserves and must hold our earnest admiration.

The dog in his place is a member of the social order not yet to be dispensed with. As our population grows and our life grows more complex, our friendship for the dog costs us something. Not alone for our own sake we have passed laws restricting and protecting him. It remains our duty to see that these laws are sensibly and humanely enforced. The dog is likely to be with us, a part of our economies, for a long time to come.—New Haven Register.

Life of the Soil

The soil may be said to be alive. It is a matrix supporting various groups of definite micro-organisms, and the investigations of the past few years indicate the possibility of determining by bacteriological diagnoses the crop-producing capacities of different soils. It has been shown by the action of nitrifying bacteria, especially in samples of soil, correlates fairly well with the productivity of the same soils under field conditions.—Harper's Weekly.

American Cocoa the Best

Now that cocoa has become such a popular and necessary drink, the American factories are making the best in the world. They buy only the highest class of cocoa beans and use the most improved machinery. Most imported cocoas are not ground sufficiently fine, being more or less ground like pepper, while the good American cocoa is as fine and smooth as the best wheat flour, and thus held in solution more readily in milk or water.

To Keep On in the Old Way

A fond father who had an unexpected windfall and wanted to do something extra for his son and heir went into a hardware store and inquired the price of bath tubs for babies. He was shown several, and finally selected the only one which he thought good enough for his little paragon. "That," said the salesman, "will cost you $3.75." "Gee Wilkins!" exclaimed the man. "Well, if that's so I guess we'll have to go on washing the kid in the coal scuttle."

In London the saloons are open on Sundays between the hours of three and five in the afternoon. A couple of roughs were standing in front of one of these accommodations waiting for it to open when a Salvation Army captain who was passing said, "Men, don't you know that when you enter a saloon you enter hell?" "That's all right, old top," piped one of the roughs, "they'll throw us out in a couple of hours."

SAN JOSE voted to license liquor houses at Monday's election by a majority of 1200. Thos. Monahan was elected Mayor, another slap at the Mercury.

"CHERRIES will soon be ripe." This is the key note of the conversation about the valley now and everybody and his aunt are getting ready for the harvest which, if no unforeseen calamity befalls, will be large. Some families will take their tent and move to an orchard and camp through the busy season and there will be work for all.

SATURDAY, the largest battleship in the world was launched at Newport News and Named "Texas" after the largest of the states. The Texas is 573 feet long and 95 feet in the beam, and is the only boat in the world carrying 14-inch guns. The cost of this harbinger of peace (?) will be about $10,000,000. Do we need any more of this costly warfare machinery to uphold world peace?

ON the strength of the excellent opportunity for a local laundry, R. K. Thomas has remodelled his building on Campbell avenue and will do all he can to assist the right parties to open up the new industry here. There is little doubt but what such a business could be made a financial success. There are a number of laundry wagons that make this large territory and with a number of our boosters for home industry back of the movement somebody will make good.

CAMPBELL has gained for itself an enviable reputation in many ways. It is one of the best canning and packing towns in the "famous Santa Clara Valley" and its fruit products are of world-wide note. Another famous industry of this vicinity is chicken business. Many of the ranchers raise several thousand chickens annually beside the fruit. The average shipment of eggs from this point is about 80 cases per week or 28,800 eggs, and of chickens about a dozen crates per week varying in numbers per crate.

AN evil principle put in effect by a good and intelligent man is more potent in its harm than its exercise by a bad man; for the moral influence of the good man will weigh in favor of all he advocates. A reliable business man could pass a counterfeit note without suspicion, whereas a strange, depraved looking person would be suspected under the most favorable circumstances. Principles and measures should be weighed and accepted because of their intrinsic worth, not because advocated by men however high in position or in the estimation of their fellows.

WOULD it not be well for parents who have children attending school in the town to take interest enough in the schools and their children to visit the schools at least once during the term? We hear parents complaining of the schools, who have no more knowledge of how they are being conducted than a resident of China has. We do know that strangers who have visited our schools have gone away and said that we have the best schools of any small town in the country. Doubtless if the parents would visit our schools they would go away saying similar things. At least a visit to the schools will show your interest in the work.

Prohibition County Convention

A meeting of the Prohibitionists of Santa Clara County is hereby called to meet at A. O. U. W. Hall, 162 South First St., San Jose, Cal. at 2:00 o'clock P. M. Saturday, May 25th, for the purpose of holding a County convention. The business to be transacted at the convention will be:

Elect 12 delegates to the State convention which is to be held in Los Angeles on June 5-6.
Elect County central committee by selecting one person, (either man or woman) from each outside precinct, and from three to five from each incorporated city in the county.

The county convention may select, by ballot or acclamation the party officers for the county, i. e., chairman, secretary, treasurer and executive committee, or the selection of such officers may be left with the county committee.

Plans for making a county campaign will be considered and adopted, and a plan for raising a campaign fund will be decided upon.

REV. W. C. SIMPSON,
County Chairman.
A. C. INNES, Secretary.

Rupture Expert Here

Seeley, Who Fitted Czar of Russia, Called to San Jose

F. H. Seeley of Chicago and Philadelphia, the noted truss expert, will be at the Montgomery hotel and will remain in San Jose this Wednesday, Thursday and Friday only, May 29, 30 and 31st. Mr. Seeley says: "The Spermatic Shield Truss as now used and approved by the United States Government will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly, affording immediate and complete relief, but closes the opening in 10 days on the average case. This instrument received the only award in England and in Spain, producing results without surgery, harmful injections, treatments or prescriptions. Mr. Seeley has documents from the United States Government, Washington, D. C., for inspection. All charity cases without charge, or if any interested call he will be glad to show the truss without charge or fit them if desired. Any one ruptured should remember the date and take advantage of this opportunity.

THE POULTRY YARD

O, the cunning little chicks!
No need of a permit to set an old hen.
Spare some of the skim-milk for the hens.
Broiler prices are somewhat better than they were last month.

The geese should be laying at their best now, and this is, also, the month in which turkeys begin to lay.

Of all fowls ducks are the easiest to raise. The eggs are more fertile than those of any other fowl.

In most latitudes this is the month to hatch out as many chicks as possible. If started well in April, they should lay by the first of November at least.

If your poultry yard has not already some shrubs or trees, plant some for shelter for the fowls on hot days. It is well to have two yards, and sow one with grass while they are living in the other.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address:
